Legal notice

The software used performs calculations on the basis of more than the two decimal places displayed. Minor discrepancies cannot be ruled out due to further calculations using published results.

The value of a unit is calculated by dividing the entire value of the investment fund inclusive of its income by the number of units. The total value of the investment fund is calculated on the basis of the current market prices of the securities, money market instruments and subscription rights in the fund plus the value of the fund's financial investments, cash holdings, credit balances, receivables and other rights net of its payables. That value will be calculated by the custodian bank.

The net assets are calculated in accordance with the following principles:

- a) The value of assets quoted or traded on a stock exchange or other regulated market shall be determined, in principle, on the basis of the most recently available price.
- b) Where an asset is not quoted or traded on a stock market or another regulated market or where the price for an asset quoted or traded on a stock market or another regulated market does not appropriately reflect its actual market value, the prices provided by reliable data providers or, alternatively, market prices for equivalent securities or other recognized market valuation methods shall be used.

Raiffeisen KAG calculates performance based on the published fund price, using the OeKB methodology. Individual costs – such as transaction fees, the subscription fee (not exceeding 0.00 %), the redemption fee (not exceeding 0.00 %) or custody charges of the investor – and taxes are not included in the performance calculation. These would reduce the performance if they were included. Past value is not a reliable indicator of the fund's future performance.

Dear unitholder,

Raiffeisen Kapitalanlage-Gesellschaft m.b.H. is pleased to present its semi-annual fund report for Raiffeisen Sustainable Mix for the reporting period from Oct 1, 2020 to Mar 31, 2021. The accounting is based on the price calculation as of Mar 31, 2021.

Fund investment policy report

Equities

The fund's equities segment remains broadly diversified and invests in companies which operate in developed markets in a particularly responsible and sustainable manner. Investments continue to focus on Europe and North America, while Japan plays a relatively minor role. The reporting period was dominated by the effects of the coronavirus epidemic.

During the period, stock markets continued their recovery from the lows recorded in March 2020. However, while the European markets were rather slow to recover, the US market climbed to new record highs. Technology stocks, which were benefiting from the shift towards increased digitalization and work from home, were initially in great demand, although the situation changed in the course of the reporting period. Market participants now preferred previously rather unpopular sectors, such as finance or energy, which were expected to benefit from the reboot of the economy and a rise in interest rates. In this environment, the equities segment recorded a very strong performance.

All sectors made a positive contribution, first and foremost among them IT, finance and industry. The lowest positive contributions were made by utilities and basic consumer goods. At the individual stock level, securities such Natixis, the French bank, or the CBRE Group, a US real estate specialist, delivered particularly positive performances.

SAP and Salesforce, two technology companies active in the corporate software segment, occupied the opposite end of the performance scale. The fund's activities in its equities segment were shaped by profit-taking, measures to optimize risk/return perspectives and not least by changes to the sustainability assessment for individual securities.

Global bonds

On average, the sustainable US dollar-denominated bonds that had been added to Raiffeisen-Nachhaltigkeit-Mix accounted for around 10 % of the overall fund and recorded a slightly negative trend. This was primarily associated with the coronavirus crisis and rising optimism about defeating the pandemic through vaccination, as well as the US government's extraordinary fiscal support for the economy and consumers, throughout the reporting period. As a result, prices of bonds, which are considered as relatively safe, generally dropped. This was true for the overwhelming majority of the securities in the global bond segment. These bonds were issued by supranational organizations or agency issuers in the top rating classes. By contrast, a smaller part including mortgage bonds, bank bonds and corporate bonds realized a slightly better performance. The yield differentials between these non-government bonds and US government bonds declined in the course of the reporting period. Thanks to significant inflows in the reporting period, US dollar bonds were purchased on both the primary and the secondary market. Nevertheless, the interest rate risk associated with US dollar bonds remained relatively stable. Initially, the dollar lost significantly against the euro, just to make up most of these losses in Q1 2021. In the reporting period, on balance, the global bond segment thus recorded a slightly negative performance in euro which was driven by both the bond and the currency side.

Euro bonds

The euro bonds segment went through two distinct phases in the period under review. Q4 2020 still saw falling yields on corporates and government bonds from the European core zone, where the substantial support provided by the central banks to tackle the risks arising from the pandemic continued to be the overriding theme. In Q1 2021, yields on longer-term government bonds from the European core zone increased substantially. This was mainly due to the debate about an apparent easing of pandemic-related concerns and an attendant relaunch of the economy, especially the service sector. On top of this, there was a burgeoning discussion about a potential acceleration of inflation rates, although it is unclear whether this will have an effect on 2021 only or will translate into a more consistent price rises. In Q1 2021, the narrowing of spreads in the corporate segment slowed down compared to the preceding year, ending in a sideways movement with little volatility. The short end was still in demand, with longer maturities coming under more pressure due to higher Bund yields. As a result, credit curves generally steepened. In 2020, the segment still recorded further gains, some of which were lost again in Q1 when yields on government bonds from the European core zone went up. The partial hedging of the yields by way of German interest-rate derivatives slowed down the downward trend to some degree, as did the somewhat more conservative orientation adopted in the longer-term corporates segment, which was particularly affected by this environment. A slightly higher level of corporate bonds was retained in the segment, with the quota amounting to approx. 53 % at the end of the period. The fund continued to focus on the use of new issues to cover the investment requirement. Swap-correlated instruments, particularly in the AAA segment, also continue to be added to the fund in order to exploit the slightly higher yields vs. government bonds from the European core zone, most of which carry significantly negative yields. The duration of the euro segment remained below average, amounting to approx. 4.7 years at the end of the period.

Securities lending transactions were entered into in order to generate additional income.

- Identity of the counterparties for securities lending transactions:

Raiffeisen Bank International AG (as a recognized securities lending system within the meaning of § 84 InvFG)

- Nature and value of eligible collateral received by the investment fund versus the counterparty risk:

Under the master agreement on securities lending transactions concluded between the management company and Raiffeisen Bank International AG, Raiffeisen Bank International AG is obliged to provide collateral for loaned securities. Bonds, equities and units in investment funds are permitted as collateral. The bonds used as collateral may be issued by sovereigns, supranational issuers and/or companies etc. No stipulations apply in relation to the terms of these bonds. Within the scope of provision of collateral, pursuant to § 4 of the Austrian Securities Lending and Repurchase Agreement Ordinance (Verordnung zu Wertpapierleih- und Pensionsgeschäften, WPV), diversification and correlation with risk diversification achieved through quantitative issuer limits in particular and appropriate liquidity for collateral for the purpose of tradability and realizability will be ensured. This collateral will be valued on each banking day, subject to an add-on compared to the valuation of the securities loaned from the fund in accordance with provisions of EU Regulation 575/2013 (CRR). For bonds, this add-on will be determined on the basis of the credit rating of the issuer and the remaining term of the bond and will amount to no less than 0.5 %. For equities and units in investment funds, this add-on will amount to 10.607 %. The value of the required collateral, thus calculated, will result in the ongoing overcollateralization of the fund's outstanding securities lending positions.
